

A vertical strip of musical notation, likely guitar tabs, consisting of many lines of notes and symbols. The notation is dense and appears to be a single column of music, possibly for a guitar or piano. It includes various note heads, stems, and symbols, but the specific details are difficult to discern due to the small size and high density of the text.